ELORADO CLIMBING WALLS MAKES A SPLASH WITH POOLSIDE CLIMBING WALLS

SHOTRock System Ideal for Indoor and Outdoor Wet/Dry Applications

BOULDER, Colorado (September 16, 2011) – As universities, recreation centers, health clubs and other fitness facilities search for ways to stand out, Eldorado Climbing Walls' poolside climbing walls provide a unique option that is both fun and visually stunning.

“Our pool climbing wall is always the center of focus when we bring admissions tours through our facility,” says Jeff Huskey, Associate Director of Campus

Recreation at Colorado State University. “The rock realistic wall creates a fun environment in our pool area by not only providing a great activity for our users, but also by being visually appealing. The waterfall further enhances the ambiance of our pool through motion and sound.”

Eldorado's poolside climbing walls feature the company's handsculpted and fully customizable SHOTRock™ climbing wall system, which is ideal for indoor or outdoor wet/dry applications. SHOTRock can be sculpted to mimic the look of any rock found in nature – granite, sandstone, basalt, limestone and more. The structure can be climbed entirely with these natural holds or climbing holds can be added.

Poolside climbing walls can include features such as waterfalls, slides and lighting to enhance the rock realism in an aquatic environment. Eldorado also employs the proper construction and finishing techniques necessary for an aquatic environment.

Says Mr. Huskey, "Eldo was great to work with in the design of our pool climbing wall. They helped us refine our concept by looking at other projects they have done and making suggestions about colors/textures based on the feel we were looking for in our pool. They did a great job of thinking creatively yet still sticking to our budget projections."
